TWENTY YEARS OF PROFESSOR SIEG

THE FAMOUS PULPIT ORATOR, RAIS AND TALKS AT

CHICAGO, Feb. 22 (Special).—Professor Swing descended to a banquet at the Palmer House tonight directed to him in commemoration of his twenty years' pastorate in this city. Three hundred men and men sat with him at the board. Among the guests were Joseph Mehill, Wirt Dexter, N. K. Kirkness, General A. A. Smith, Prof. J. A. S. Hays, and Dr. Wm. J. Gage. The speeches were all timed to the work of the pulpit orator, who responded feelingly. In making of his labors Professor Swing said: "The reputation of Chicago as a place for speedy and astonishing money getting attracted a large class of men of low moral grade. The clergymen had a hard struggle to retain the balance of their souls. Had the pulpit not been able, direct, simple and practical it would not have been done. The clergy in Chicago have never been given discursing on abstract themes very much. Their moans are concerning the useful and practical." Professor Swing said that one of the first sermons he had preached in Chicago was one he regretted the most. He had prepared it to fulfill the duty of his ministry, and its object was to show that the Rev. Dr. Collier with hisitarianism could not possibly do the cause of religion the church any substantial good. Now he thought it was a very poor sermon directed against a very good man.
